Memorial

Jack Taughinbaugh was a country boy with an English touch. Above all, he was his own man, and, as he always said, "It's the little things in life that please me." He died on April 29 in a motorcycle accident, leaving behind him a great many friends who will never forget "Happy Jack." His classmates at Towson High offer this poem in Jack's memory:

He cannot see the trees as they sway to the soft summer winds.
 He cannot hear the child's gentle voice falling softly on our hearts.
 He cannot feel the tall tickling grass sprawled on in a moment of innocent laziness.
 He cannot smell rubber burning, hear tires squeeling, or feel free and flying along unknown roads.
 He cannot . . .
 And yet, is he not a part of all this even as he lies in deep slumber on the rolling hills of Mount Zion?

Bob Lyon tells a disgusted Sara Packard of his enchantment with Fiona in BRIGADOON.

Senior Soiree

The Senior Soiree was the fun night of the Senior Class. Held on May 10, it put senior singers, dancers, pianists, and pantomimists in the spotlight as everyone got together to produce a show that was both memorable and enjoyable to the audience of parents and fellow classmates. Bob Eickelberg, pictured in the circle above with microphone in hand, emceed the show, while Nancy Scheiner and Wes Shuff directed production.

Junior-Senior Prom

"A Night in Hawaii" was the setting for the annual Junior-Senior Prom held May 10. Amidst yellow and orange streamers and waving palm trees, juniors and seniors alike danced into the late hours of the night. The "Jetsons and the Civics" provided the music for one of the big social events of the year.

Studying during June Week?

Cheesy, isn't it?

Senior Prom

Every high school student eagerly awaits his senior prom, which marks the climax and conclusion of school life. This year's seniors were no exception, as the most popular question in the halls was, "What are you doing on May 31?" And this year's Senior Prom was worth every ounce of worrying and matchmaking. Donning the garb of a Roman town, the Towson gym truly took a step back into ancient history. Roman helmets, maidens, chariots, and columns helped to disguise the gym. But it was the seniors and their dates that provided the mood and the "Princetons" that added the beat, definitely modern.

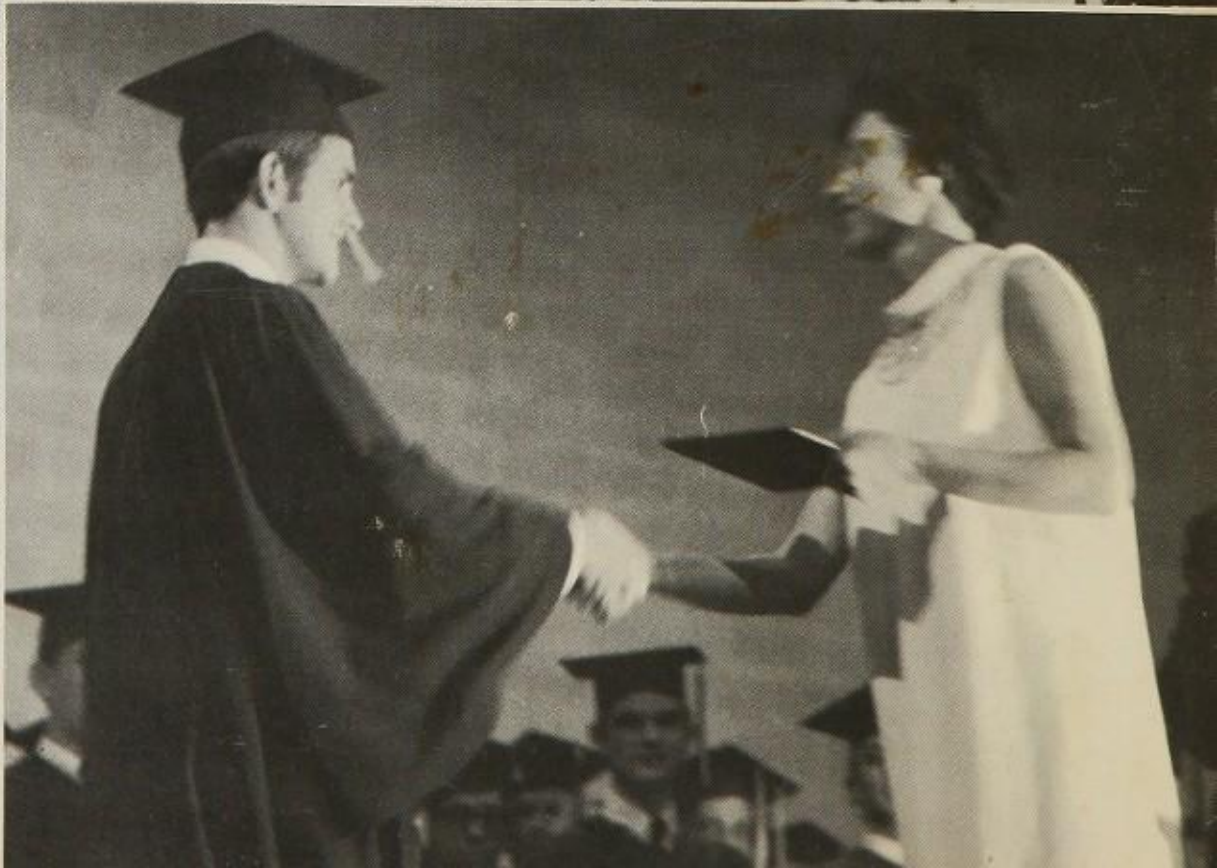

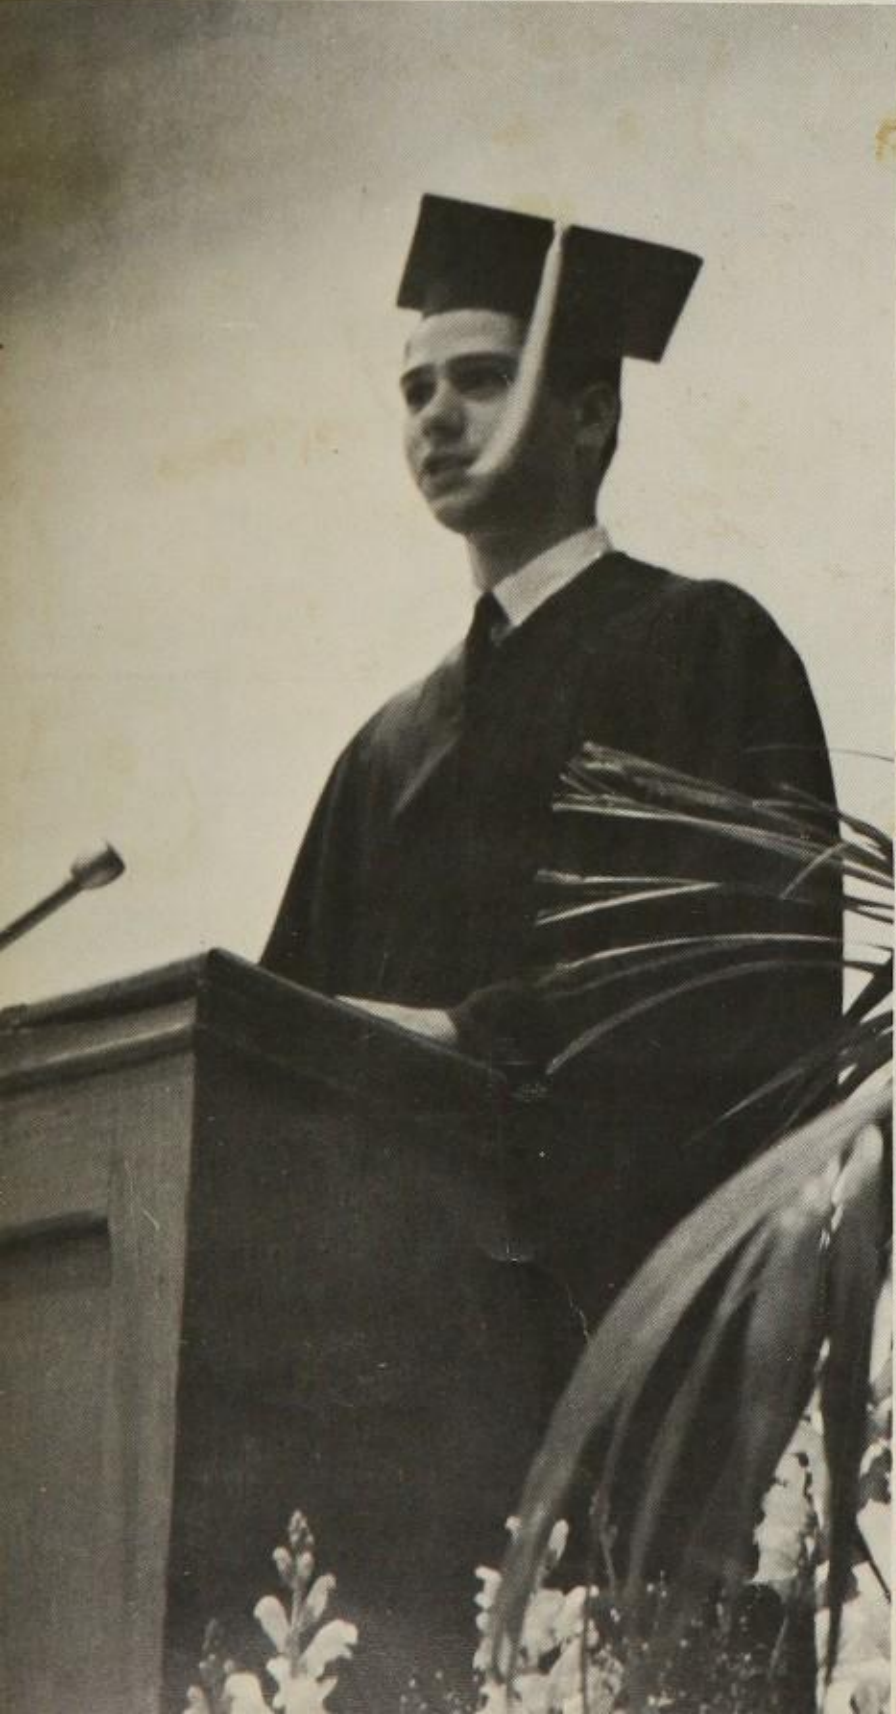

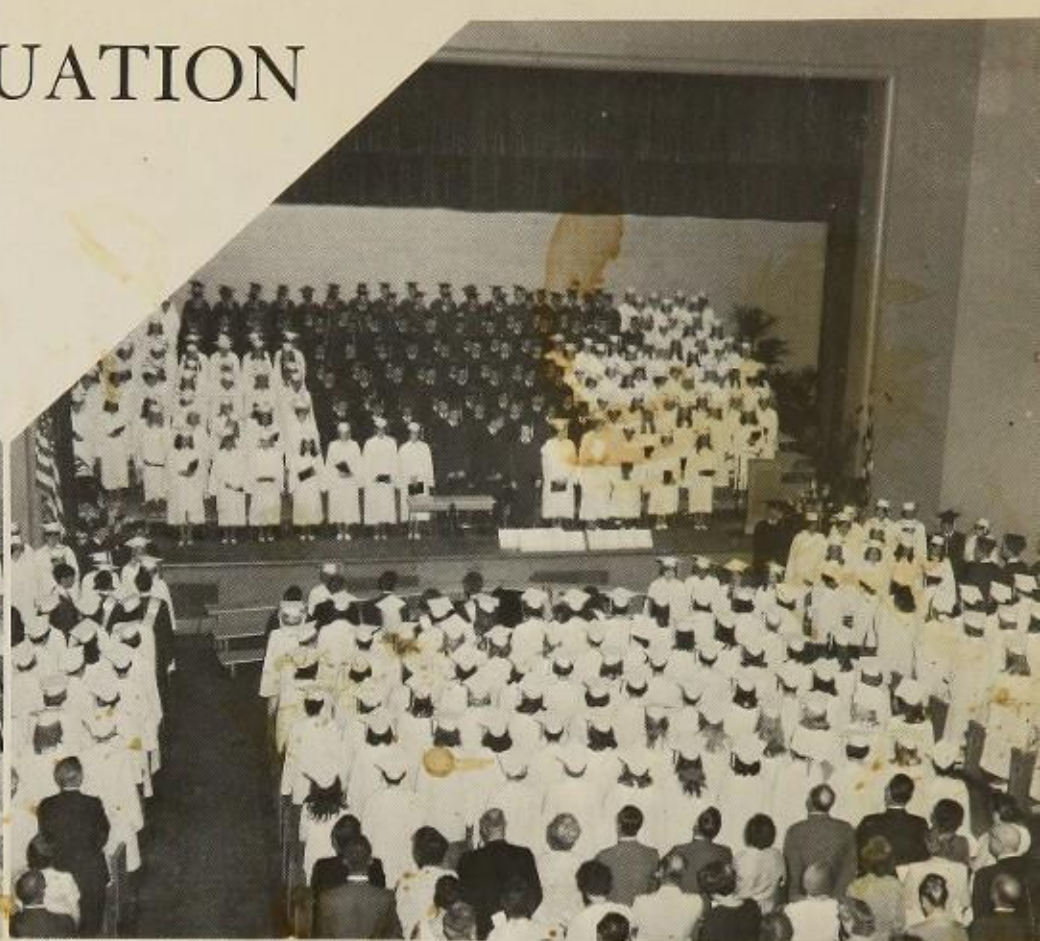

When in Rome, do as the Romans do.

Prom goers quench their thirst at a fountain of punch.

Tish,
To one of my very best buddies this year. We really went through a lot together in one years time. I'm very happy that you and Chip are back together, and that I finally got to meet him - He's a real doll. Remember Home Room and study and hunch and our talks about Lita. Oh this has been a really s m a r t i n g year. Please keep in touch with me.
Some day if you can save $200, I want you to come to England and visit me. We must have a real ball this summer. I'm homesick for England, but I'm glad I didn't miss these past two years. You've been a real love.

The Towson Scene

Towson High School · Cedar Avenue · Towson, Maryland

Volume LII, Number I

THE TOWSON SCENE

*which includes Sunday School, Murray's Sermons, fellowship and breakfast.
Sist wishes
Janet Prehlman*

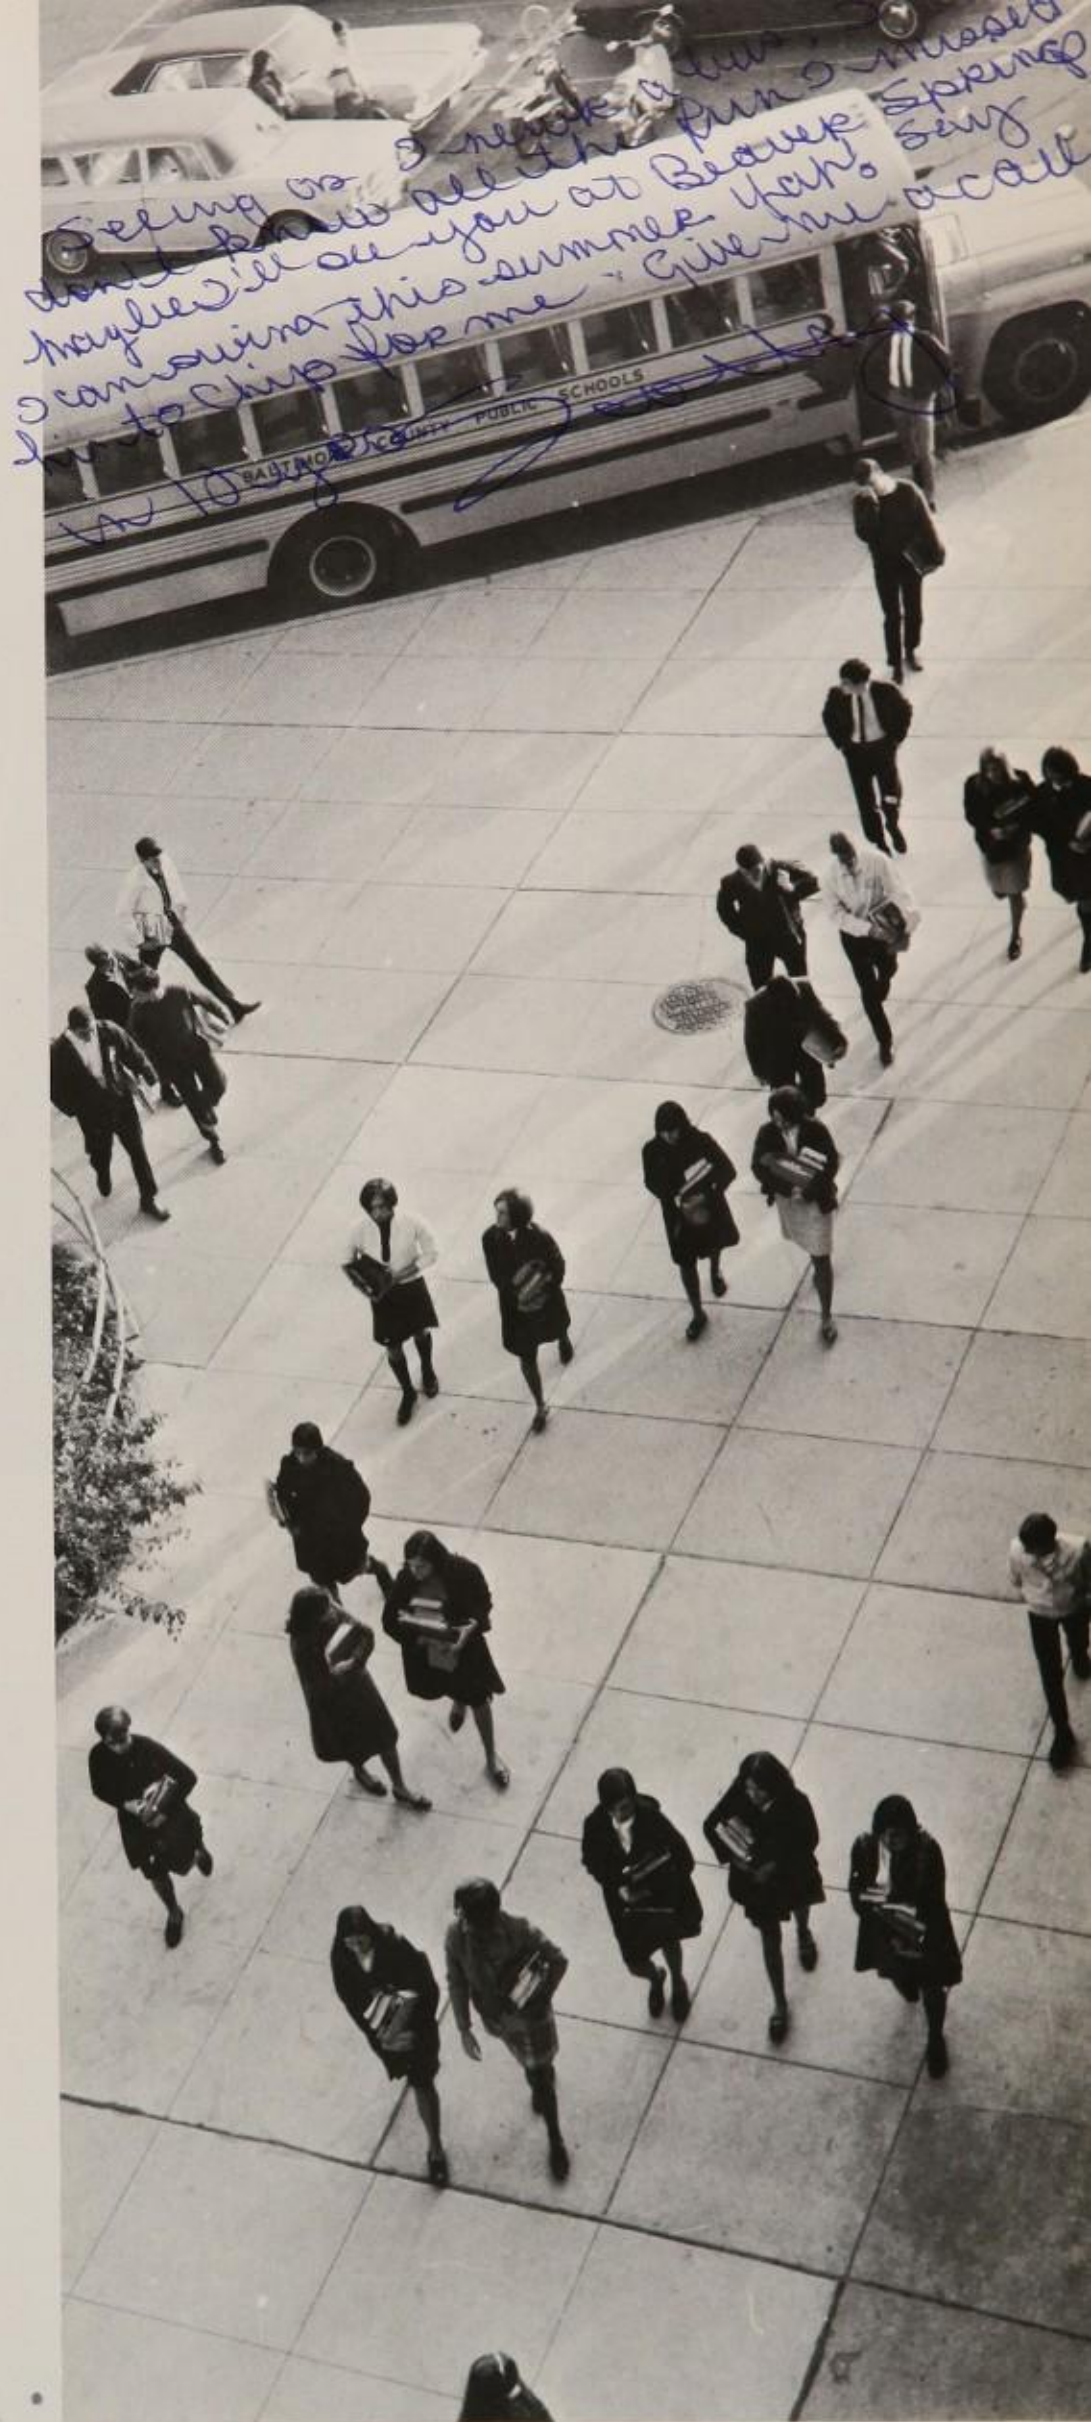

Mr. Wheeler and Mr. Marsilio solving the world's problems . . .

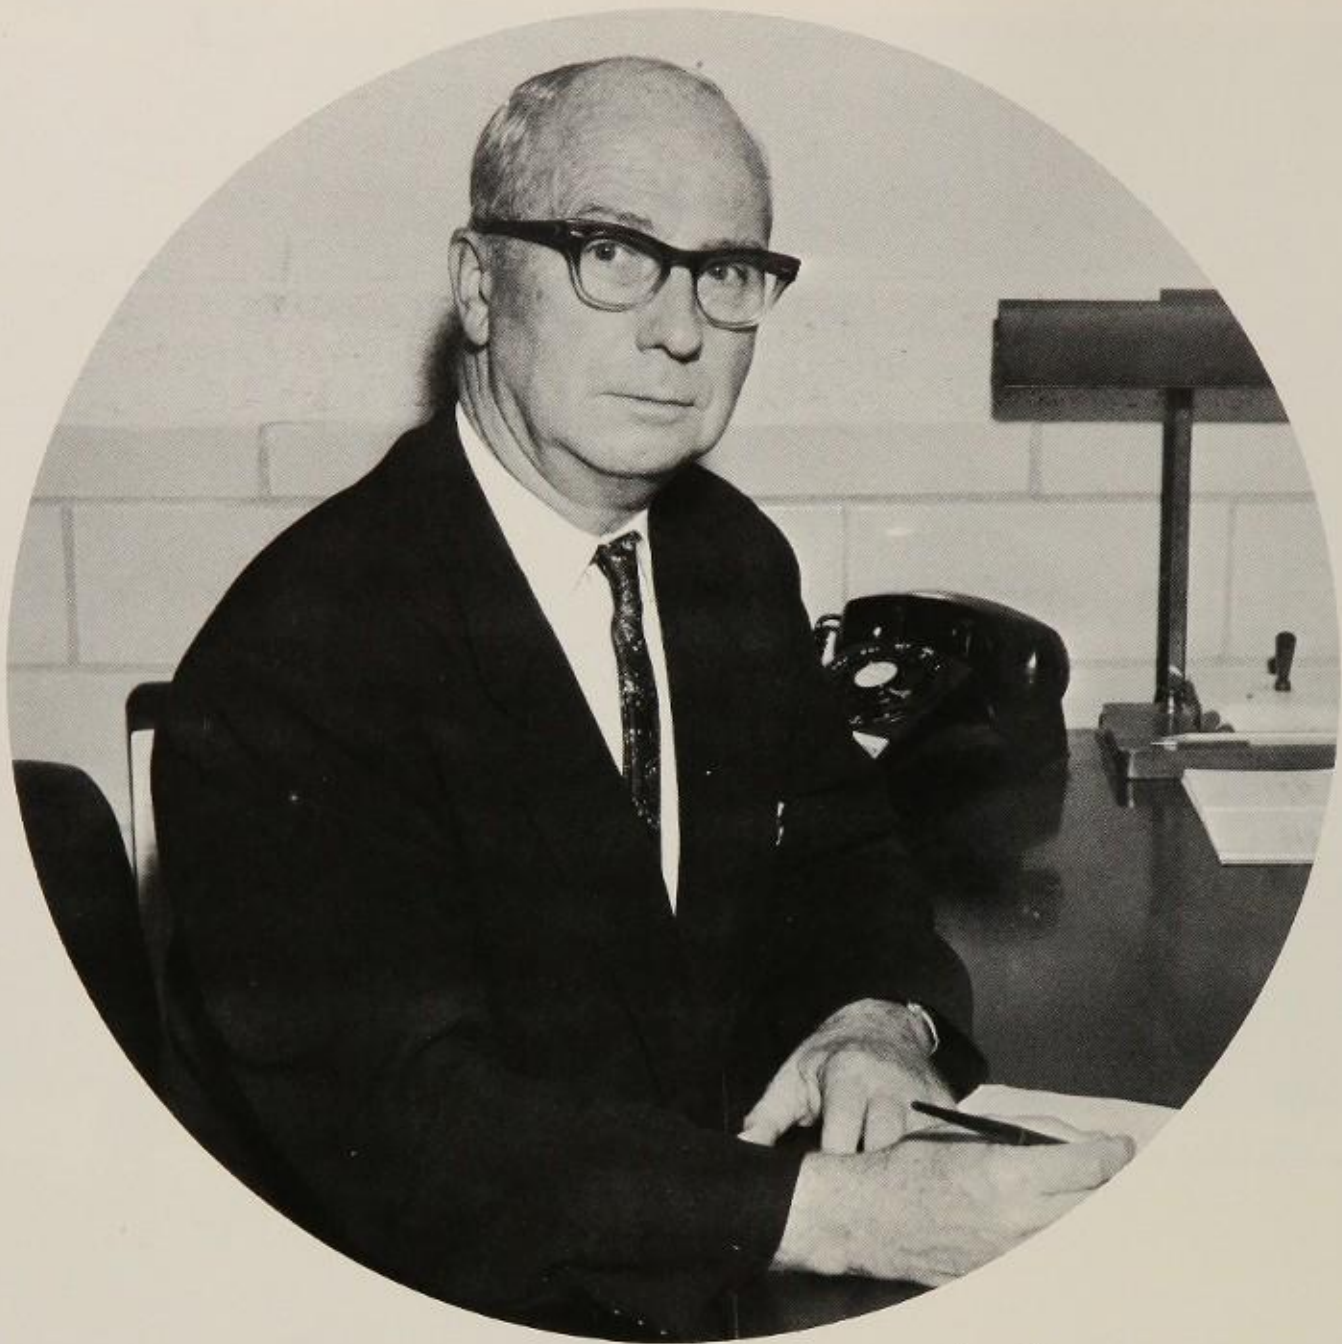

"Fools rush in where angels fear to tread."

"Hail, hail, the gang's all here!"

Pen in hand, Towson's chief executive looks over his busy daily schedule.

Administration

"Ah ha! Caught you writing your own absence excuse this time!" gloats Mr. Marsilio.

Miss Ziegler checks on Towson's dependable bus service.

The line-up: Which one did it? L. to r.: Mrs. Stephens, Mrs. Bowerman, Mrs. Burkard, and Mrs. Hardin.

Mrs. Mary Kelley, Towson's accountant, is in the numbers' game.

Typewriters ringing out lines of print, adding machines clicking the day's totals, telephones pealing about the hubbub of scuffling footsteps, preoccupied employers reading the latest data, visitors waiting for the verdict . . . New York's Stock Exchange? No, this was the daily scene of Towson High's Administrative Office, the main thoroughfare of much school business.

W. Horace Wheeler, principal, saw to it that all school affairs were executed efficiently, with the aid of vice-principals Alfred S. Marsilio and Miss Emma Ziegler. Mr. Marsilio also checked invoices and new books, while Miss Ziegler was responsible for buses.

Other necessary links in Towson's office were the secretaries: Mrs. Grace Bowerman, Mrs. Shirley Burkard, Mrs. Frances Hardin, and Mrs. Sally Stephens.

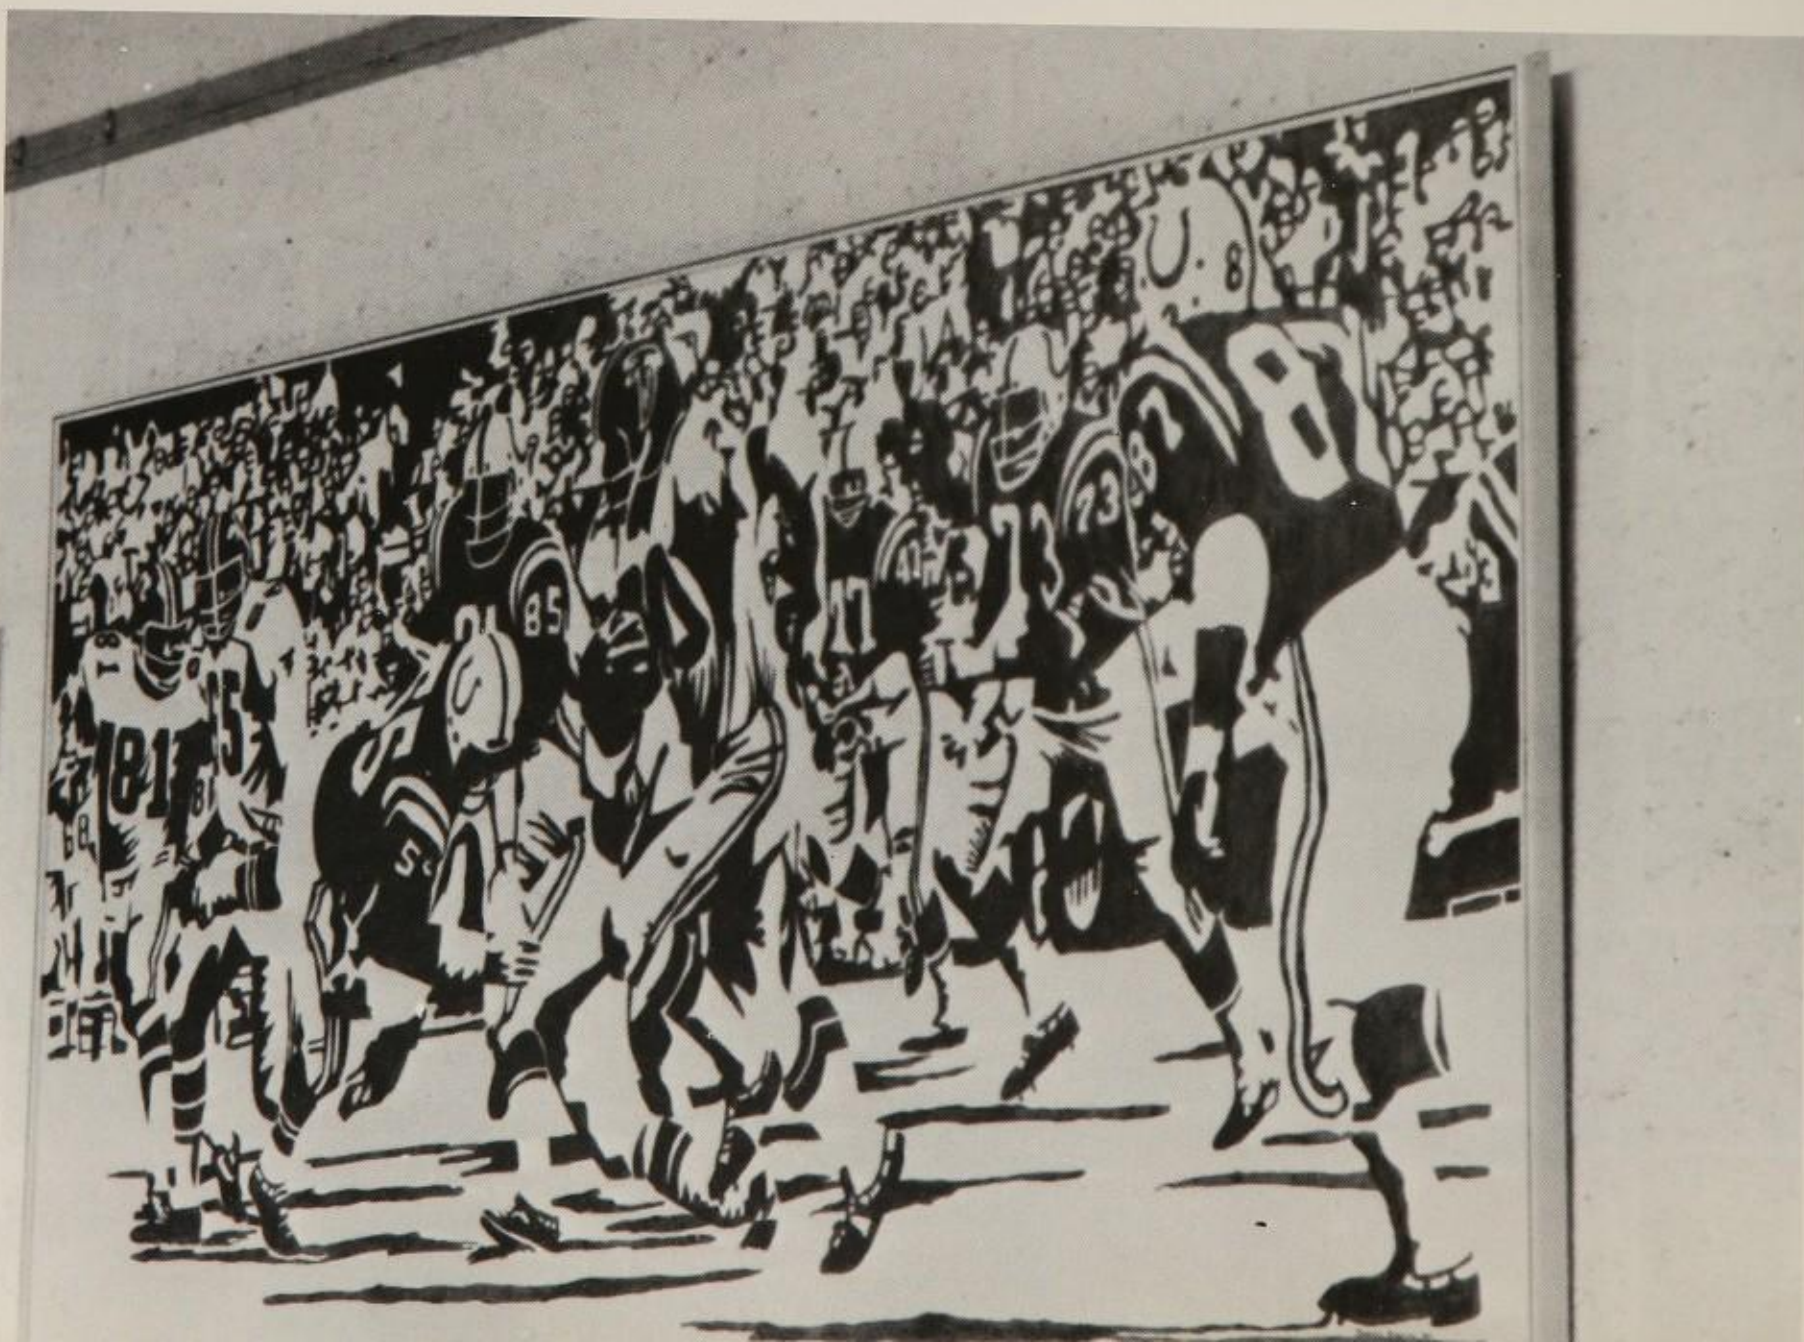

Hey Lawrence, where's your camel?

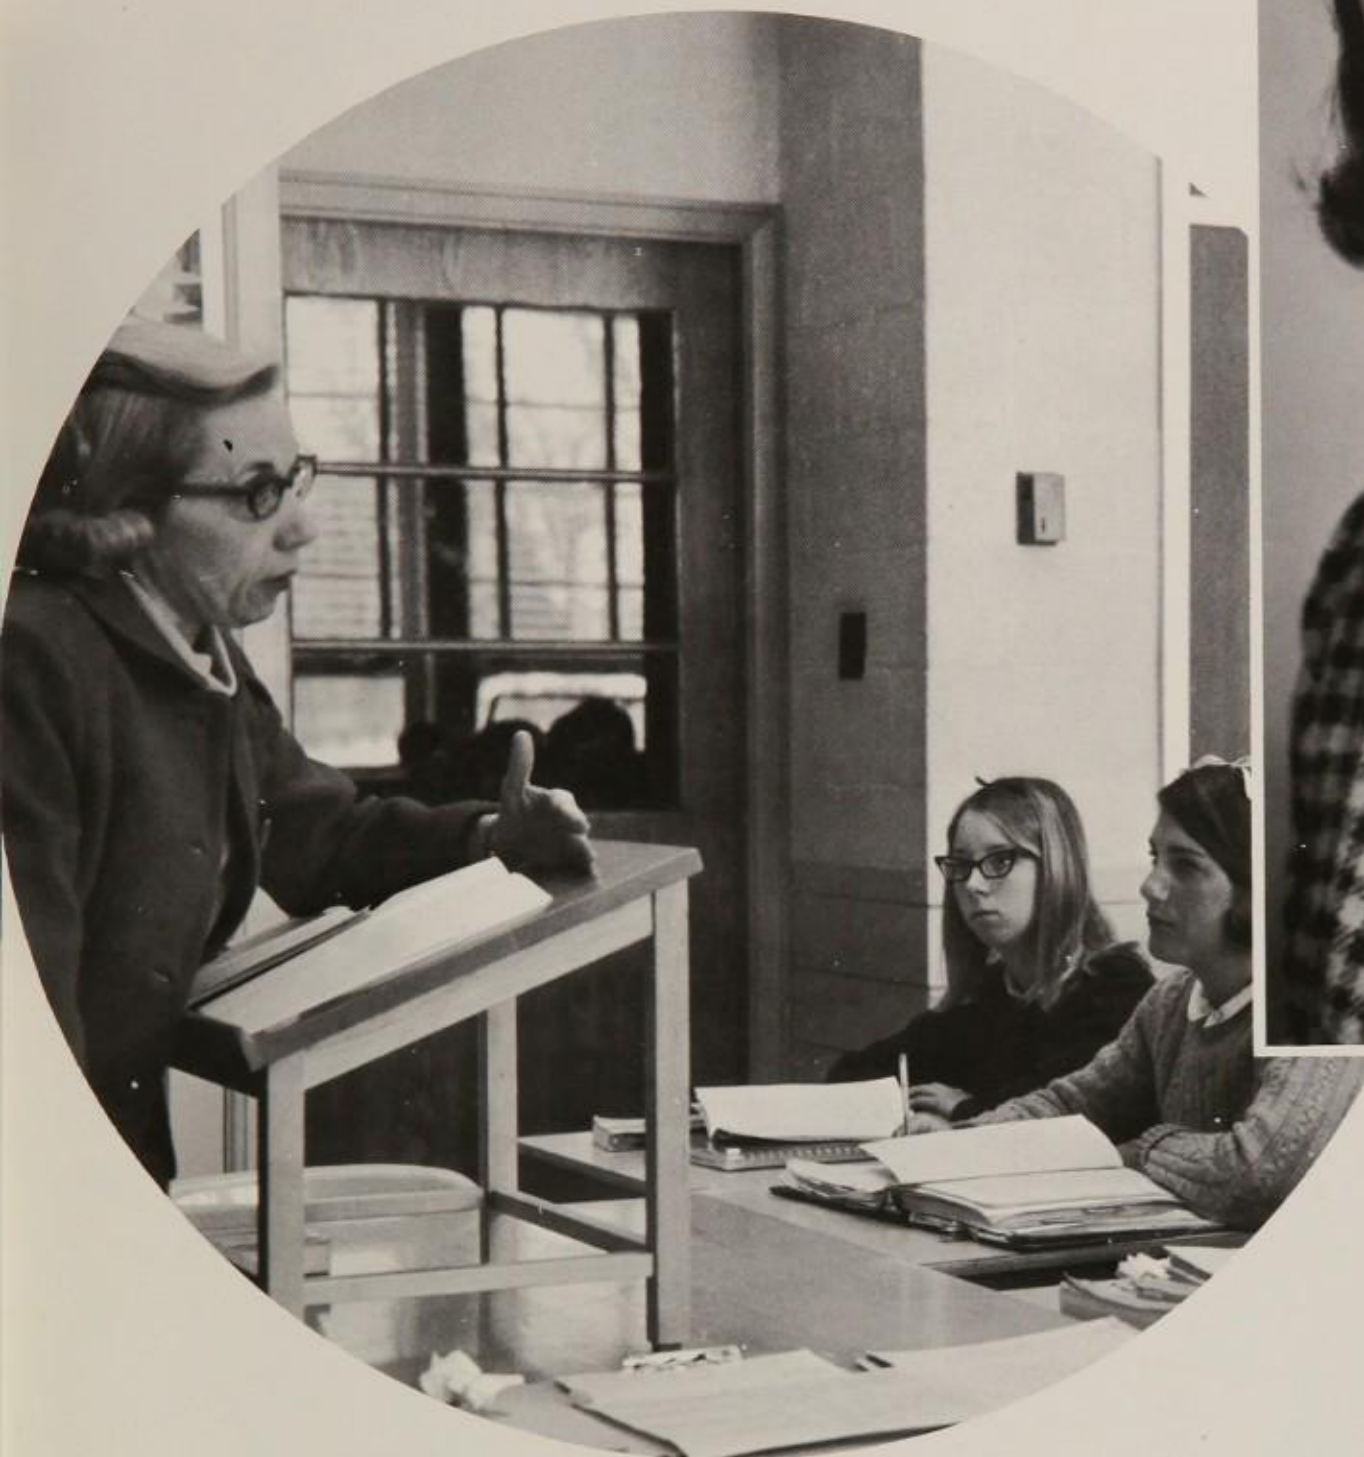

Towson's faculty takes time out for the Faculty Picnic.

Towson ops it to a victory.

"I give this to you for what it may be worth."

"Sometimes we have the least to say about the things which move us most deeply." This is what Mrs. Frances Meginnis said when she left Towson in February. We did not tell her, but her words expressed our feelings as well as her own.

Mrs. Meginnis taught English at Towson for 17 years with her own inimitable mixture of knowledge, dignity, and wit. And yet, she was more than an English teacher. To us, she was a symbol of culture and refinement in a chaotic world. A reference to a composer, a comparison with a painting, a description of a cathedral, or a comment on the world situation were only a few of the ways Mrs. Meginnis had of presenting literature free of a literary vacuum.

She left us with the same dignity and wit with which she taught. She has assumed a new and challenging post in the Maryland State Department of Education, and we offer her our congratulations and best wishes for success. Finally, in gratitude for her years at Towson, we dedicate SIDELIGHTS '68 to Mrs. Meginnis. There is really nothing more we can say.

"The old order changeth, yielding place to new;
And God fulfills himself in many ways,
Lest one good custom should corrupt the world."

—Alfred, Lord Tennyson
Morte d'Arthur

SENIORS

The Senior Class strove to make its final year a fitting climax to over a decade of education. Both in class and outside of school, the seniors aimed at the best possible preparation for their futures.

Class activities began with an October picnic including sack and three-legged races, tug-of-war, and egg-throwing contests. The enthusiastic spirit at the Senior Pizza Party, held primarily to collect cans for the Canned Foods Drive, led the class to an overwhelming victory in the rally with over 6,000 cans. Later in the year, seniors combined their talents to produce the Senior Soiree. Commencement excitement began early in May with the Junior-Senior Prom and continued through the various activities of June Week. The final climax came on May 31 with the Senior Prom featuring the Baltimore "Princetons" and the June 4 graduation ceremony.

Senior Pat Newell gets initiated into the Honor Society.

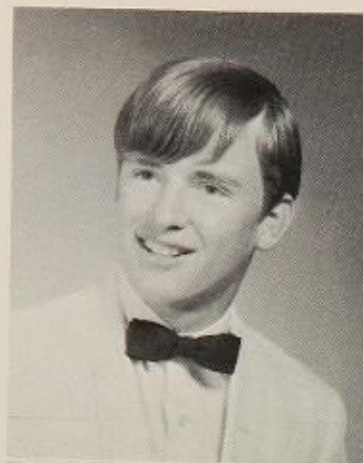

Buffy Lewis and Diana Ross act out a scene from "The Miracle Worker."

Art

The Art Department aimed for an enjoyable and productive year, stressing the basic principles and various media of artistic fields in Commercial Art, the Fundamentals of Art, Painting and Sculpture, Illustration, and Art History. Studio Practice and Theater Arts gave the student a chance to specialize in his chosen field.

Business Education

Courses in the Business Department built a foundation for the future, as students preparing for a life in the ever-expanding world of business took courses geared to their needs. Future secretaries became proficient in necessary skills such as typing and shorthand, while clerks, buyers, and managers-to-be learned the basics of business mathematics, economics, bookkeeping, and law. Distributive Education, a new course at Towson, provided for a half-day work, half-day school program which permitted students to pursue business endeavors during school hours.

Buckle up for safety!

Driver Education

Mr. Glen Adkins
Driver Education

Combining practical knowledge about cars with actual on-the-road experience, Driver Education provided a solid background for the drivers of tomorrow. Students learned about the functions of various automotive parts as well as how to recognize trouble before it becomes serious. Driver psychology was another important section of the program. But of course, experience is the best teacher; thus, students received twelve hours of in-the-car training to round out their program.

English

Hopefully, by the time a student completes English 12, he has learned to do far more than "undangle" participles. He should be able to intelligently evaluate and discuss many kinds of novels, poetry, and drama. He should be able to express his thoughts logically and concisely in an original manner. And, above all, he should emerge from his three years at Towson with a desire to further his knowledge and understanding of literature, either in college or on his own.

Towson's English teachers strove for these goals in their own particular ways. Many endowed their classes with generous measures of their own personalities. A dry wit, a piercing thoroughness, an offbeat point of view—all these qualities contributed to making English a subject which both imparted and perpetuated learning.

Guidance

Mountains of registration cards and questionnaires cluttering the desks of the Guidance Office clearly exemplified the population explosion at Towson High School. The influx of hundreds of old and new students in September greatly increased the already heavy workload of the four guidance counselors: Mrs. Ruth Pearson, Mr. Daniel Drigan, Mr. James Leslie, and Mr. Frank Reber. But by June, after manipulating courses for 1900 students, conducting testing programs, publishing Guidelines, and aiding the populace of Towson in choosing a college or career, the four busy counselors had reduced their mountain of work, if not to a molehill, at least to the gently rolling ups and downs of the summer guidance program.

Home Economics

Singer Swinger . . . Watch that finger!

From lollipops and Easter eggs to the latest fashion fads, students in the Home Economics Department prepared to become future homemakers. Girls in the clothing course, learning to employ new techniques, enriched their own wardrobes while they sewed blouses, dresses, and suits. Cooks-to-be sent delicious aromas throughout the second floor of the school as they tried their hand at just about everything, while Home Management students worked with interior design and child care.

Industrial Art

Towson's Industrial Education Department created art of a practical nature in mechanical drawing and metal shop. Students in this department devoted up to three periods a day to projects and related classwork. By the end of the year, the main product of the department was ready to be put to use—students with valuable experience in engineering and vocational training.

Library

The French writer Andre Maurois once said, "Civilized man cannot live and should not live without books." Since books are the very basis of learning, it logically follows that the library played an important role in the lives of Towson students. It offered an extensive and diverse source of knowledge ranging from Aeschylus' Prometheus Bound to the latest issue of "Sports Illustrated."

Tackling the momentous task of operating the library efficiently, Mr. Harold Murray and Mrs. Ruth Lang managed to keep track of Towson's 15,000 plus volumes and still provide a serene respite for students. Sophomores, juniors and seniors in the Library Club aided the librarians in assisting countless numbers of students and creating a meditative yet amiable atmosphere in which THS students could discover the value of literature.

Math

Given: $x^2 + 2x + 1 = 0$

Prove: $x = -1$

Proof: Towson's Math Department taught students not only how to solve equations, prove theorems, find the derivative of a function, and use radian measure, but it also taught students to think logically. The math student learned how to think through a problem to its logical solution. Although the majority of these students would never be professional mathematicians, they would always make use of the core of mathematics—logic. Thus, the THS math student could logically prove that the above equation's correct answer is $x = -1$.

Music

"Musical training is a more potent instrument than any other, because rhythm and harmony find their way into the inward places of the soul," according to Plato. The Music Department provided this potent instrument for the students of Towson High. Choral groups sang a variety of music and learned the basics of rhythm and harmony in Varsity Choir, Girls' Glee Club, Men's Glee Club, and Concert Choir. A new course at Towson, Music History and Literature, emphasized the more technical aspects of the music world. Students exhibited their proficiency in playing everything from the drums to the cello in Towson's band, orchestra, and brass band.

Science

Adaptation to scalpels, bunsen burners, and ripple tanks was perhaps the hardest task of Towson science students. While in other classes the students' basic needs were a pen, pencil, and paper, in science classes students found an adaptability to myriads of unknown instruments and materials necessary. Biology students attempted to accept and use formaldehyde, worms and scalpels. Chemistry pupils tried to make sense out of mysterious Redox equations, Periodic tables, and never-working bunsen burners, while physics students tangled with ripple tanks, mirrors, and micrometers. But after a long struggle through both physical and mental work in Towson's science classes, the students by June had gained increased knowledge in the scientific realm, as well as an amazing ability to grapple with the most unusual things.

Social Studies

Towsonites' extensive history courses covered everything from Akhnaton to Zarathustra. Sophomores studied the origin and development of civilizations and their contributions to our American heritage, while juniors concentrated on American cultural, political, and economic problems as well as the general development of the United States. Seniors probed the how and why of human behavior, studied conflicting ideologies, and delved into philosophy.

G. Franke, and M. Fondersmith.

Class of 1970

Seven-hundred and fifty students strong, the sophomore class arrived in droves at Towson. Probably the largest class in Towson's history, the sophomore class managed to adjust to high school life quite successfully. They soon learned to ignore upper-class gibes, to relinquish all privileges to their elders, and to more or less shift for themselves. The class also functioned quite successfully in school affairs. It sponsored a Canned Foods Rally and contributed quite a number of cans to the total Towson High output of 14,000. The big date of the year for the sophomores was their March dance which featured the Continental Rockers and the election of a sophomore bunny.

Class of 1969

Successful bake sales, Kool-Aid drives, dances, college boards, and achievement tests kept this year's juniors on-the-go.

It was a big year academically for them, as they faced more advanced courses. They also got a taste of achievement tests, SAT's, National Merits, and all the other steps to be taken in preparing for college.

Juniors received their "badges of belonging" as they walked through the traditional ring at the November Ring Dance. The theme, of course, was the replica of the Towson High School ring set in the center of a tent formed by blue and white streamers. The Junior-Senior Prom was the other big date on the social calendar of the Class of 1969.

Student Council

Kicking off with a victory Homecoming dance, the SCA began an active year. Planning and carrying out activities to please the 2000 Towson students was a hard job, but this year the elected representatives, under President Bucky Larmore, succeeded. Not only did they sponsor two successful dances, but they also sponsored perhaps the biggest Canned Foods Drive in Towson's history, as Towson rallied for 14,000 cans.

Financially, the SCA supported Talisman, the TAA, and several other school organizations. Without this aid, the many functions of Towson could not have performed so effectively.

The SCA also ended the year on a victorious note. Towson's first Cultural Fair Week, sponsored by the SCA, was one of the highlights of the year as seminars, an art show, and a coffee house were held.

Honor Society members attend the annual induction ceremony.

National Senior Honor Society is the symbol of excellence, both academic and extracurricular, in student life. Members of the Society not only maintained a "B" average in all major subjects and excelled in their other activities, but were also judged persons of outstanding character by the school faculty. The Society looked upon education as the total product measured by scholarship, service, leadership, and character—four dimensions of life.

Colophon

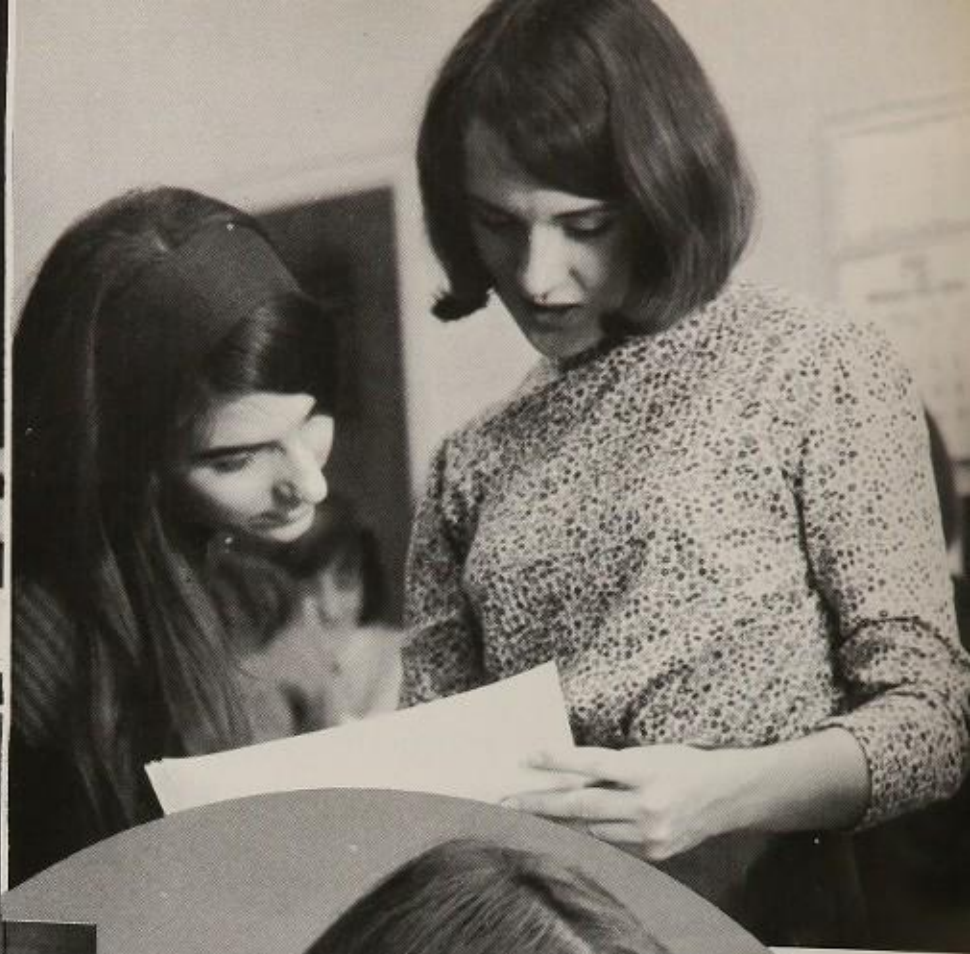

Dear Miss Frebble,

If you can possibly (I'm sure you can) stop by Schlemmer's Delicatessen on your way to work,
And pick up, say, some corned beef and rye, and maybe a pastrami sandwich for my lunch, (in a thick bag!)
Remember my wife's birthday is next week, so get her a nice bracelet and a card from me (I'll sign it later,)
Oh, and while you're at it, stop at Towson
High and pick up a copy of COLOPHON
—The literary magazine.
Jerry (he's a senior now) got a poem or such printed in it.
He's mighty proud of it—maybe this COLO-PHON has got some real value. (Make a note of that. J.B. might like to promote it.)

Service Organizations

Towson's Audio-Visual Crew, under the direction of Mr. Harold Murray, took charge of supplying and running projectors, record players, tape recorders, and other equipment throughout the year. Members of the group provided lighting and background music for dances and often assisted the Stage Crew in presenting assemblies in which films were shown. The crew put in many long hours to provide students with one of the important techniques in learning—audio-visual aids.

Office Aides

The office aides performed many of the tasks necessary to the smooth running of the Towson High Administrative Office. Such jobs as issuing late slips, delivering daily bulletins, helping to keep the records, and running all of the various and sundry errands fell to their lot. They gave up their study periods to benefit Towson.

Library Club

Library Club members also donated their study periods to the smooth running of Towson. In the bottom picture, Library Club members include: Upper left: B. Berwanger, C. Bennett, R. Coffey, M. Whitehouse, M. Price, S. Michaels, S. Schmidt, P. Teightmier, A. Lownes, G. Seward, B. Spadaro, C. Stagmer, S. Sindall, R. Talbert. Row 2: B. Davis, Mrs. Lang, Mr. Murray, J. Board of Elections

Men in Washington, D.C., devote their entire day to government; however, the members of the Board of Elections had to find room in their busy school schedules to see that Towson's politics ran smoothly. The members saw to the effective, organized running of class, SCA, and TAA elections. Devoting much time to holding assemblies, approving nominations and posters, registering Towsonites, and counting ballots, the board made sure that once again a spirit of democracy prevailed at Towson. Officers of the board, pictured at left, were (l. to r.): Nancy Gretz, vice-president; Brooke Murdock, president; and Karen Edwards, secretary.

Future Teachers

"Now students, today we will learn about the division of fractions." Even though the beginning of this arithmetic lesson may sound like fourth grade all over again, it is really just an example of one of the many activities of the Future Teachers of America Club. Cadette teaching, panel discussions with the faculty, and college tours highlighted the club's year. Members were: upper left: J. Pochlman, N. Mayer, A. Hall, S. Robbins, L. Schad, H. Rice, M. Kiegler, C. Vogt, and S. Brooke.

French Club

From trying their hands at making madeleines to attempting to understand French plays performed at Goucher, the French Club members had a busy and interesting year. Pictured below are: Upper left: B. Ensor, P. Spruytenberg, J. Woodward, D. O'Connor, J. Williams, D. Lampe, K. Rourke, M. Hebert, D. Bisease, P. Newman, A. Hall. Row 1: H. Barber, D. Gilley, M. Spruytenberg, A. Miles and B. Arnold.

In this scene from "You Can't Take It With You," Kim Powell (seated) plays the part of the drunken lady recounting her deeds.

Moss Hart's "You Can't Take It With You" was one of the highlights of the school year as the Drama Club put on one of the best dramatic productions in recent years at Towson. Other activities of the club included participation in "Brigadoon," and the production of the "Miracle Worker." Opportunity was given the members of the group to attend several plays including "The Little Foxes" at the Morris Mechanic as well as several amateur productions at other schools. In her first year at Towson, Mrs. Elizabeth Corwell directed the activities of the Drama Club.

Math Club

Towson's local branch of the National Mu Alpha Theta Math Club helped to further the understanding of interested math students by providing speakers, movies, puzzles, and practice. In the above picture, Math Club members are: Standing at left: D. Lampe, S. Brooke, B. Ensor, M. Berry. Sitting at left: A. Reese, F. Hess, S. Ensor, E. Peitz, and J. Feustle.

Medical Careers Club

To orient students towards the various medical fields and opportunities, the Medical Careers Club welcomed students interested in all branches of medicine. Members attended talks on various fields of medicine and participated in several field trips to medical institutions. Members pictured below are: L. Eife, D. Kleinberg, Sponsor Mr. Miller, C. Koerber, Z. Stocksdales, and L. Biddick.

Organ Club

Sounds of music echoed through the halls many afternoons as the Organ Club, under the direction of Dale O'Connor, tuned up the organ. Members not only practiced for their own benefit, but also played for many school functions. Members pictured at left are (l. to r.) D. O'Connor, J. Poehlman, J. Feustle, and A. Reese.

Pep Club

Members below are: Upper left: J. Putens, F. Grandes del Mazo, C. Russell, T. Brown, J. Johnson, T. Ward, M. McWilliams, N. Crueger, P. McGuire, A. Lickle, C. Young, M. Mays, B. McCain, D. Bittrick, P. Beall, S. Harris, A. Hall, R. Barnes, V. Wright, J. Pettit, P. Mullen, A. Zimmerman, S. Raymond, P. Barker, J. Reynolds.

Pep Club members were kept busy turning out shakers, tags, and posters announcing games to come. They also supplied Towson students with programs for the games and pom-poms.

Towson Athletic Association

Arranging interscholastic games, providing buses to matches, and presenting awards kept Towson's Athletic Association quite busy this year. The members achieved the goals they had set up in the fall, which included more activities and better financial backing for sports. Their year ended on a flourish with the annual Varsity Banquet. Those who led the organization included (l. to r. in picture): Sue Harris, vice-president; Mike Foster, president; and Penny Brian, treasurer.

Usherettes

Formally organized for the first time this year, the Usherettes helped out at PTA meetings, community concerts, and all school functions including the Baccalaureate Service and the graduation ceremony. Members pictured below are: Upper left: D. O'Connor, P. Levay, M. Warfield, V. Hawkins, S. Creager, D. Jewell. Row 1: V. Gray, M. Mudd, P. Fredricks, S. Liberto, and P. Politis.

Future Business Leaders

Spanish Club

In an effort to practice speaking Spanish and to provide an interest in learning about the Spanish culture, the members of the Spanish Club heard lectures from foreign speakers, learned Latin American dances, visited several foreign embassies, and held a Spanish Day. Members are: Upper left: M. Spruytenberg, N. Mayer, S. Robbins, D. Kleinberg, M. Kiegler. Sitting at left: K. Gossard, L. Biddick, Z. Stocksdales, C. Carothers, and P. Spruytenberg.

United Nations Club

Considering topics from the customs in Australia to the war in Vietnam, the United Nations Club learned about the countries of the world. The club climaxed the year with a trip to Washington, D. C., to view foreign embassies. At right, members are: Upper left: J. Hiller, J. Peterson, K. Huber, D. Davies, R. Anderson, M. Falatico, T. Faust, H. Rao, V. Gray, M. Harris, L. Yee, and K. Baker.

MUSIC

The Chorale performs for the annual Christmas Concert.

Chorale

An extra-curricular music group, the Chorale met one evening a week for two hours. Students who participated in the group were chosen by auditioning and assisted, throughout the year, with the major concerts presented by the Music Department. Members also provided the nucleus for the chorus of Brigadoon, sang at several of the junior high schools, and performed for various community organizations.

Uniformly clad in homemade maroon jumpers and white blouses, the Girls' Glee Club performed in all of the major concerts of the year. Composed of girls from the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades, the Glee Club was an integral part of Towson's many sounds of music.

Chorale, Concert Choir, Varsity Choir

Towson takes a step backwards into the Middle Ages as the Music Department staged its Christmas show in a medieval castle.

Concert Choir

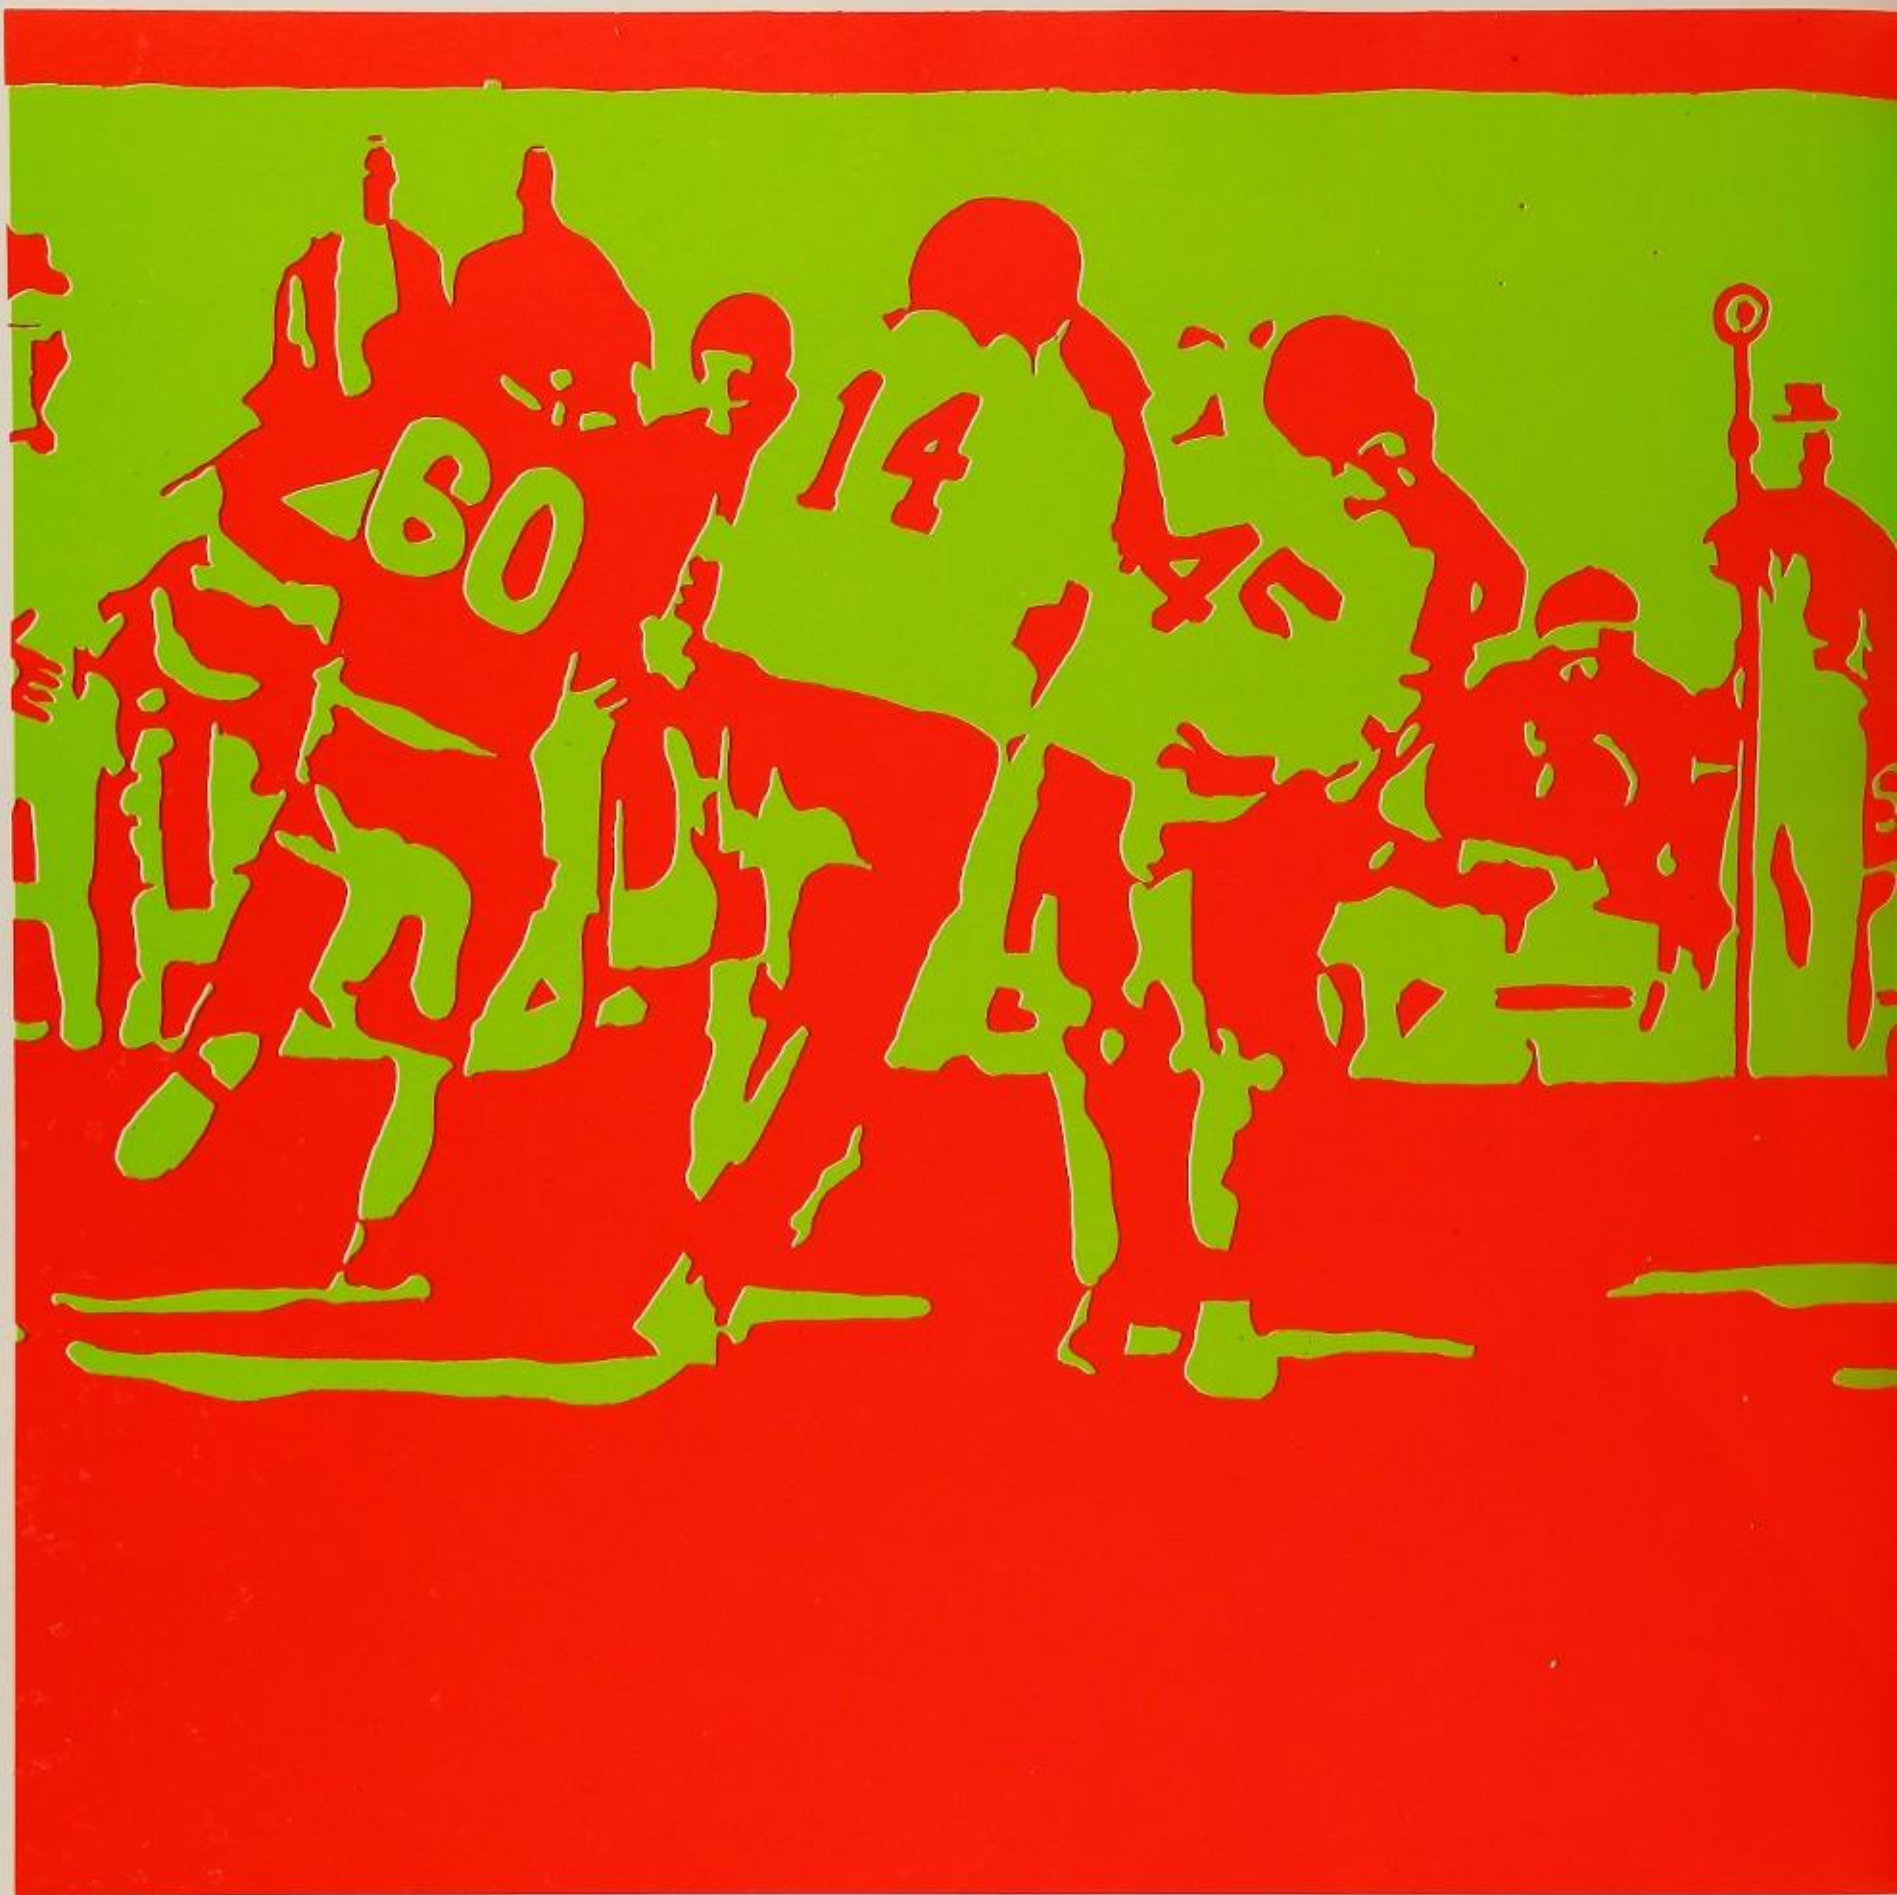

The Concert Choir was made up of seventy students selected by audition. The members participated in all of the major concerts sponsored by the Music Department as well as singing concerts at Loch Raven, Dumbarton, and Towsontowne Junior Highs, Boys' Latin, Mercy High School, Reformation Lutheran Church, and for several civic and local groups. The choir was rated "superior" at the County Choral Festival at Dundalk High School.

Towson Cheerleaders

As the mighty Generals scrambled over the goal line for the winning touchdown, a burst of applause and chants of "V-I-C-T-O-R-Y! Victory, victory! Towson High!" filled the air.

The varsity and junior varsity cheerleaders, who faithfully led the Towson crowds in team support, devoted many hours of their time to creating spirit and enthusiasm at Towson High. They cheered for football, soccer, lacrosse, or basketball games each Tuesday and Friday and planned and carried out pep assemblies and rallies for important games. In addition to the exciting job of cheering their teams to victory, the cheerleaders held practice sessions on Monday and Wednesday afternoons, sold tickets and programs for games, helped with preparation for the Homecoming Dance, and raised their own money to pay for uniforms and pom-poms.

Sue Ransen, captain of J.V., leads her crew in stirring up the spectators.

In its second year of competition, Towson's football eleven managed a 5-2-1 record and a second place in county standings. Paced by an excellent defense that allowed an average of only eight points per game, Towson beat Patapsco, Kenwood, Parkville, Milford, and Catonsville, losing only to county champion Dundalk and to Woodlawn. Coach Thomas's Generals ended the season with a heart-breaking tie at Dulaney.

The season opened this year with practices early in August, but the extra work paid off. Beginning with new offensive formations that were referred to as a sort of "modified confusion," the team at last put together the combination of skill and heart that typifies all Towson squads. The hard-nosed battle with Dundalk early in the season set the pace, and under Coach Thomas, the team developed in pride and strength on the way to becoming a winner.

Gary Ford, offensive captain, quarterbacked the team, while Dick Schini acted as defensive captain.

Tennis

Penny Rose gets ready for some action.

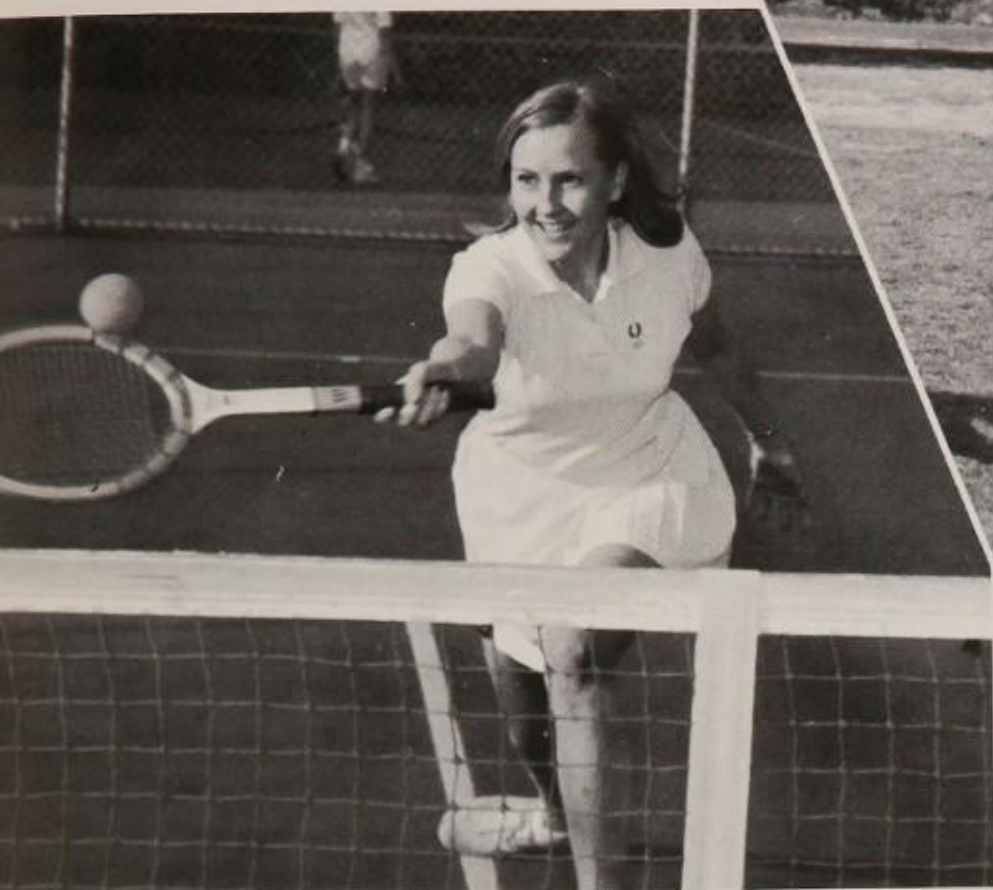

Towson's 1968 varsity tennis team, coached by Math Department Chairman Mr. Robert Young, was one of the most competent that Towson has been fortunate to acquire in recent years. Tennis, the only co-ed sport in the school, attracted fierce competition this year for a handful of positions. Approximately fifty prospective netmen and netwomen turned out in an attempt to nail down the half-dozen positions not sure to be captured by veterans.

Towson's male squad was headed by senior Don Hicks, with male returnees Bill Bader, Bob Bishoff, Bob Spangler, and Curtis Wilson vying for starting positions. The foremost female athlete was Ellie Jones, ranked number one in her age class in the state of Georgia before moving to Maryland earlier this year. Overall, the team's depth assured it of a high-ranking finish.

Senior golfer Doug Ballenger keeps his eye on that ball.

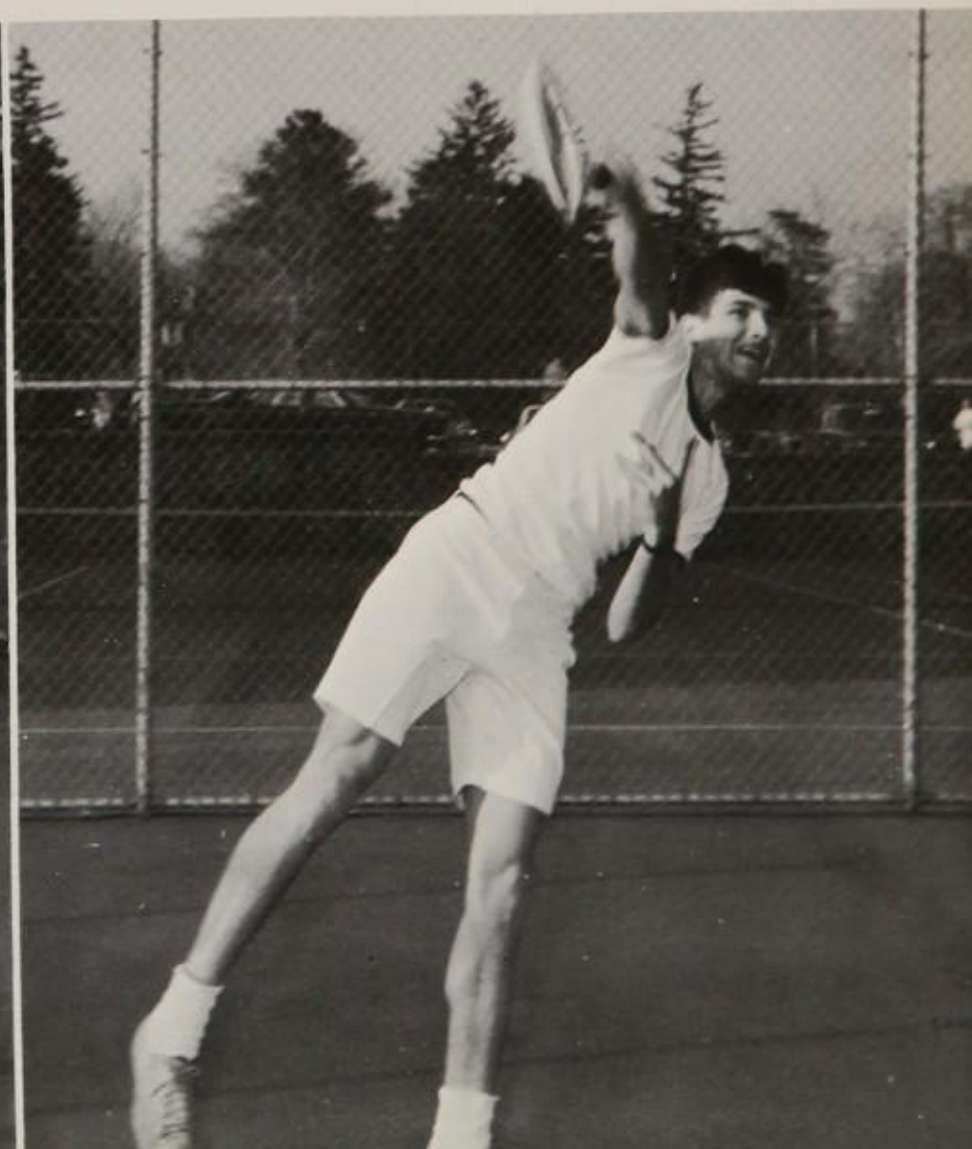

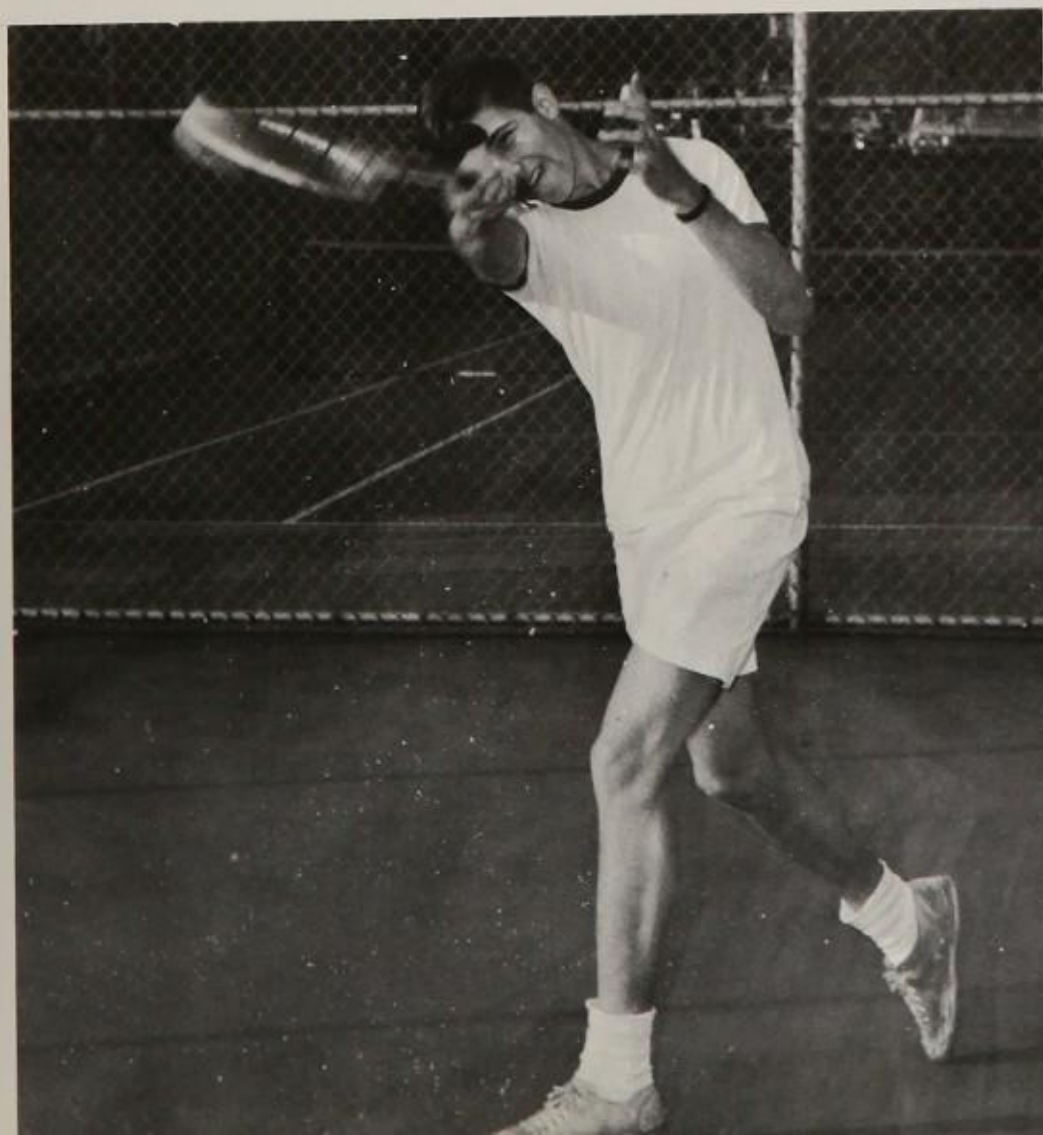

Ellie Jones practices her forehand.

Golf

Bob Spangler gets in some practice shots while warming up to face his next opponent.

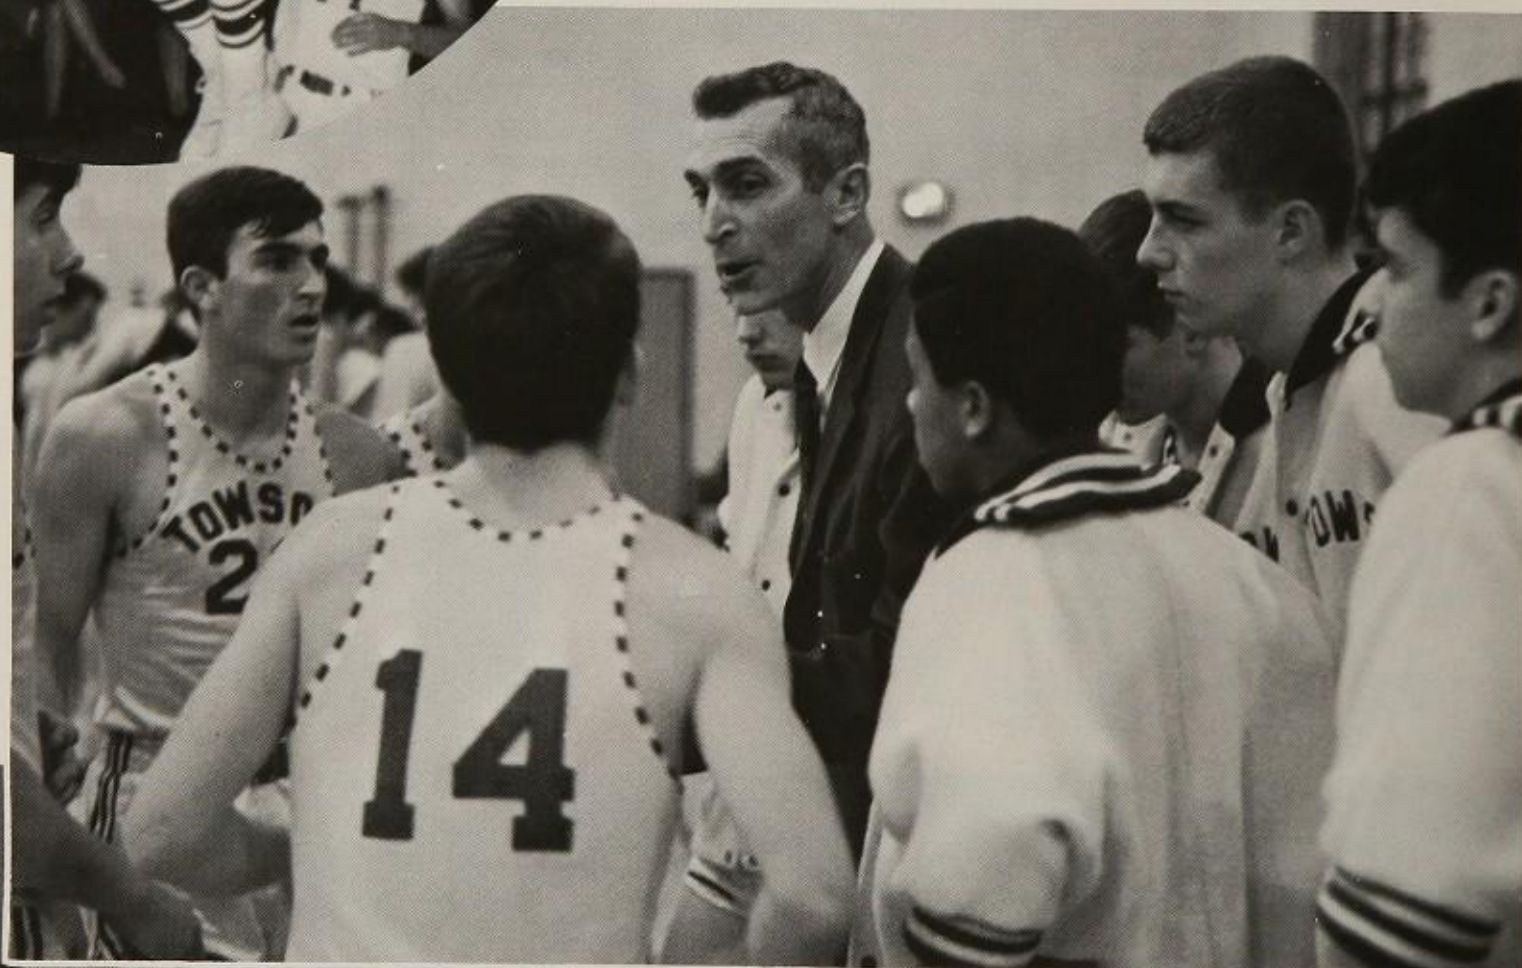

Under the tutelage of guidance counselor Daniel Drigan, the golf team was one of Towson's most successful contingents with a low county finish of second in the last five years. Coming off of a second place last finish last season, they were a serious challenger to the crown this year. The varsity was led by senior Doug Ballenger and junior Arthur Jakovics, two golfers who not only achieved local fame, but also state and national recognition. Supplementing them, juniors Tom Maloon and Bob Mac Meekin, steady players who on occasion let loose with some very low rounds, added to the team's power.

Varsity Basketball

Towson's basketball Generals could not manage to extend Coach Randy Walker's phenomenal 1962-67 league record of 80 wins and but three losses. However, the '67-68 cagers battled to a 9-5 Division I mark, second only to unbeaten Dundalk. Dundalk was forced to overcome Towson in the last 24 seconds in the second-round tilt which decided the division champion. In non-league action, Towson trounced Division II champion Catonsville and dropped close decisions to both Calvert Hall and Towson Catholic.

And it's one, two, three strikes you're out at the old ball game . . . Towson's baseball team struck out with confidence and optimism to show excellent promise for victories over the league opponents. Boosted by second year glovemen Gary Mullaney, the star pitcher, Steve Sandebeck, the leading hitter, Bill Wiseman, the third baseman, Will Lloyd, right fielder, Mark Mitchell, pitcher, Tim Winfield, first baseman, and Bob Masterpere, outfielder, the squad showed tremendous hitting power and good defensive play. Coached by Mr. Jay Gernand, the team was out . . . for victory. Mr. William Morell coached the JV squad, composed mostly of sophomores.

Trying to catch an Oriole?

Without fanfare or applause, the Varsity Softball team took the field for another season. A team of potential, it had to prove its worth in seven contests. Afternoons, the batting, bunting, base-stealing, and fielding conditioned the 15 girls and gave them the knowledge which they displayed in their games. Varsity returnees led new players into the season with tips on better playing and with words of wisdom on the winning game. But only time could tell of success or defeat.

Towson's cross country teams enjoyed another season filled with victories in 1967. The campaign started with a fine performance at the novice meet where the tenth grade runners finished second in the team standings, while the eleventh and twelfth grade harriers won first place honors. In the Spiked Shoe meet at Johns Hopkins, Towson's team placed tenth out of eighteen. The Generals were successful at the county championships. The junior varsity B placed second, the varsity B was third in its race, the varsity A was sixth, and the junior varsity runners gained first place honors. At the state championships, Towson's B team was eighth in a field of twenty-nine and the A team was fifteenth out of twenty-eight. Ed Peltzer set the pace for the victories of Mr. Walker's harriers.

We'd like to introduce you to Bud Type Cleaner

(In case you haven't met this little time saver!)

- THE SECRETARIES LIKE ME!

BUD's amazing plastic putty pulls stubborn dirt and ink out of the type to give a clear, sharp copy every time. The special handle makes the application clean and fast—fingers never touch ink or dirt. NO messy liquids, rags or brushes are needed.

- I AM EASY TO USE!

BUD comes packaged in sales stimulating individual boxes. Twelve of these boxes are packed in a colorful counter display box. Envelope stuffers are available at no cost to include in your mailings.

- I SAVE YOU MONEY!

The cost of BUD to you is low and is reusable. And—BUD is habit-forming—once a secretary has tried BUD she'll use nothing else. Save on costly repairs!

- ORDER TODAY!

From your stationer. $6.60 per dozen.

26th Anniversary

THE ENSIGN C. MARKLAND KELLY, JR. MEMORIAL POST #174 of the AMERICAN LEGION was formed in his honor, to perpetuate his name and keep alive the AMERICAN ideals for which he so willingly gave his life.

To this end the Ensign C. Markland Kelly, Jr. Memorial Post #174 has been active in many programs and activities, a few of which are listed below.

- American Flag—Educational programs for flag etiquette and American Flags presented to Boy and Girl Scout Troops.
- Athletics—Junior baseball, basketball and lacrosse teams sponsored. Lacrosse trophies for High Schools and Colleges. A baseball field is maintained in the Northwood area. Annual Sports Award presented to an outstanding coach in the State of Maryland.
- Baltimore City Zoo—Gifts of (11) Polar bears, Jenny the elephant and most recently the Sardinian donkeys, Ginger Bread and Cupcake.
- Boys and Girls State—(8) High School Juniors each year sponsored.
- Boy Scouts—Over 18,000 Boy Scout calendars presented annually to schools, troops and Cub Packs.
- Drum and Bugle Corps—Sponsoring St. Mary's Drum and Bugle Corps and Honor Guards in American Legion competition each year.
- Essay and Oratorical Contests—Sponsoring contests in all schools interested.
- Open Shutter—Maintain film library for "shut-in" institutions as well as providing live entertainment and refreshments as occasion arises.
- Scholarships—McDonogh School and Baltimore College of Commerce.
- Memorial Services—Open to the public, each year a Memorial Day Service is held at Loudon Park Cemetery on May 30th for all who have made the supreme sacrifice for their country. Watch for announcement in the papers.

Since its inception, the Post has been interested in the community; and many things have been done to promote its welfare. Special credit should be given to the ENSIGN C. MARKLAND KELLY, JR. MEMORIAL FOUNDATION, INC. for their financial assistance. The result—many of the programs are a reality rather than a dream.

Tish,
It was nice knowing you through the past year. Good luck in future with
Chip and everything.
Love ya,
Laura Roberts

Tish - been great to see you.
It's later and I wish you had our church youth group. And love you. '68

Tish -
Thanks for being such a good friend.
- Ann

Tish,
It's been great knowing you,
Concert choir period has been the best. Stay as nice and as helpful as ever.
Lisa Krabbe

Dear Tish -
There are so many things I could write, but so help me I can't think of any of them - Be good, and don't get yourself into too much trouble! Best of luck and lots of love!
Dot "Cess" Poole
